YOUNG Rebecca Carter was treated like a queen for the day when she was chauffeur-driven around the town in a unique stretch limousine courtesy of Harlow Greyhound Stadium.

Rebecca (5), who underwent open heart surgery at Great Ormond Street Hospital as a baby, was chosen to collect a cheque for almost £18,500 on the hospital's behalf.

The money was raised through a series of charity events held at the dog stadium in Roydon Road and organised by 77-year-old greyhound trainer Maurice Newman.

Mr Newman, who lives in Walthamstow, also donated a further £1,500 to the Retired Greyhound Trust. He said it would be his last big charity effort after raising more than £250,000 for good causes over the past 30 years.

"I'm 77 now and keen to pass the fundraising baton on so get in touch if you can spare the time and I'll still do what I can to help out!" he said.

"I'd like to thank Dave Barclay and Mick Godderidge at the track and also everybody who contributed their time and money to help a great cause."

SHOPPERS and filmgoers got up close and personal with some of the most iconic cars from both the big and small screens at the Queensgate Centre in Harlow on Sunday.

Hundreds of families braved the rain to visit the retail park where replicas of the Batmobile, Fred Flinstone's Bedrock pedal car, Del-boy's three-wheeler from Only Fools and Horses, Kitt from Knight Rider and Ecto 1 from Ghostbusters were on show in the car park.

Scores of youngsters also dressed up as Spiderman for the chance to meet the superhero in the flesh and win tickets to see summer blockbuster The Amazing Spider-Man at Harlow Cineworld. Queensgate Centre manager Ricky Nelson said: "The TV and Movie Car day was fantastic, and lots of families really enjoyed seeing some of the iconic cars that were on display. "We had over 400 people visit us on the day and the exhibition really offered something for everyone. "Many visitors made a day of it by enjoying lunch, shopping and seeing one of the latest films on the big screen."

AS Harlow College staff and students look forward to the summer break, two sports-mad tutors are preparing to spend their holidays working at the Olympics.

Senior journalism lecturer Neil Silver and business tutor Steph Herlock have both landed important roles with event organisers LOCOG and will spend the next six weeks helping to ensure the Games run as smoothly as possible. Former sports journalist Neil has been recruited as a sports information specialist for the Olympics News Service while Steph will be working as a driver, ferrying athletes and executives to and from events across the capital.

Neil, who will spend most of his time at the Games' north-east hub at St James' Park stadium in Newcastle, said he was relishing his role.

"A lot of people don't realise that there are events taking place outside of London during the Olympics," he said. "My main focus will be the football as quite a few of the games are being played up in the north-east."

"I worked for the Press Association during Athens 2004 and nothing compares to the buzz when the Games finally come to life after all the build-up. I can't wait!" Steph, who will be based in London throughout the Olympics, added: "I just wanted to be part of the Games because it really is a once-in-a-lifetime experience."

'Scissor stab' attacker sentenced to 10 years

A MAN who claimed he heard voices in his head before stabbing a friend in the heart with a pair of scissors has been jailed for 10 years.

Barry Payne (46), of Northbrooks, Harlow, returned to Chelmsford Crown Court on Thursday for sentence after being found guilty in May of wounding with intent to cause grievous bodily harm. He was cleared of a charge of attempted murder.

Sentencing was adjourned to allow time for the preparation of psychiatric reports, but Judge Anthony Goldstaub was told Payne was not considered to require such treatment and a hospital order would not be necessary.

During the trial the court was told the scissors had nicked the heart of the victim, 32-year-old Barry Thompson, who had to be airlifted to hospital for emergency life-saving surgery.

The jury was told Thompson stayed intermit-

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

tently at Payne's home – where the stabbing occurred – without paying his way and had also been given free alcohol. Payne later told police he always felt used and said he had warned Thompson about hanging round.

The court was played a recording of a 999 call made by Payne in which he told the operator he had stabbed someone in the heart. Asked why he stabbed him, Payne replied: "I don't know why. I've stabbed him, get the ambulance here now."

Again asked why he stabbed him, he said: "I keep hearing voices in my head."

Tim Horgan, representing Payne in mitigation Mr Thompson would have died if his client had not contacted the emergency services.

Mr Horgan said Payne had been attacked himself when he was 21 and was an alcoholic and addicted to various drugs.

Jailing Payne for 10 years, the judge told him: "You were drinking with a friend in your home and for some reason, not explained satisfactory during the trial, you took it into your head to stab him with a pair of scissors, a vicious weapon.

"You stabbed him at least twice. The more serious was directly over his heart and penetrated through to his liver causing life-threatening injuries. He was only saved by the medical profession after you reported it to them.

"You said you heard voices instructing you to do this terrible thing but the psychiatric investigation doesn't bear that out.

"There was evidence of a personality disorder but no psychological justification for a hospital order, suggesting this is an isolated incident that won't be repeated."

Inquest opens into the death of mum-to-be

AN inquest into the death of mum-to-be Estyna Blunnie, who was found dying in a Harlow street, has been opened and adjourned.

Ms Blunnie (20), of Halling Hill, Harlow, was days away from giving birth when she was discovered in Howard Way in the early hours of Wednesday, June 27. She died later in hospital.

Chelmsford Coroner's Court heard on Tuesday that police and ambulance services were called to the scene at 2.58am. Despite medical attention Ms Blunnie was certified dead at 4am at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

"Sadly her unborn baby daughter also died as a result of this incident," said coroner's officer Paul Gamman. "Provisional cause of death is multiple head and facial injuries."

● Tony McLernon (23), of North Grove, Harlow, is awaiting trial accused of murder and child destruction.

Museum reopens after getting new lease of life

REVAMPED Harlow Museum has reopened its doors to the public after being closed for almost two months for a spring clean.

Hard work by staff, volunteers and members of The Friends of Harlow Museum has seen the Muskham Road site undergo a complete transformation since it was taken over by voluntary organisation Science Alive at the beginning of April.

A reorganisation of the layout means the museum's entrance is now located off Muskham Road to improve disabled access, while new exhibitions, a purpose-built meeting room and a dedicated Heritage Centre have also been developed.

The gardens have also been spruced up in time for a programme of holiday events.

"The past eight weeks have been spent tidying up the site to make sure it is somewhere where people want to go," said Science Alive chief executive Jon O'Connor. "Everyone has worked really hard and I am thrilled with what we have achieved so far.

"Just like before, Harlow Museum is once again open five days a week from 10am-4pm and admission is completely free. We also have a lot of plans for upcoming events, talks and new exhibitions so it is a very exciting time."

Naomi's in training for lakes swim

CARE assistant Naomi Staines will be swapping her swimming costume for a wetsuit when she takes on her biggest challenge yet – a five-mile open water swim for charity.

Naomi (29), of Freshwaters, Harlow, will be taking part in the Aspire Lakes Challenge 2012 in the Lake District.

She will join a group of 10 people from across the UK taking part in the event to raise vital funds for Aspire, a national charity providing essential support, funding and advice to UK residents suffering from spinal cord injury.

Naomi is no novice at endurance swimming, having previously swam the equivalent of the English Channel in a local swimming pool.

"I always like a challenge and I try to do something for charity every year," she said. "As I am turning 30 this year I wanted to do something different to mark the occasion."

After several months of early morning swims at her local pool, Naomi progressed to Redricks Lake in High Wych where she now trains two days a week. She continues to train in the swimming pool for the remainder of the week.

After a tough start, she said she had taken to open water swimming like "a duck to water".

"Since I've been open water swimming I find swimming pools claustrophobic," she added. "In open water there are no barriers and the scenery is much more attractive than in a pool. Now I feel ready for the big swim."

Naomi has already raised approximately £200 of her £450 target for Aspire through sponsorship and is planning a cake sale at her workplace to boost her funds.

Fun is the name of the game at family sports day

BUDDING athletes can show off their sporting prowess at a community games day.

The Harlow branch of Epilepsy Action UK is hosting an Olympic Games-themed family sports day in the Town Park on Saturday to get everyone in the competitive spirit ahead of London 2012.

The free event, which is being supported by a grant from the Essex Legacy fund, will feature activities for people of all ages and abilities and at the same time raise awareness about the work of the charity, which supports people suffering from neurological condition.

Marie Edgar, regional manager for Epilepsy Action, said: "We wanted to do something different to promote the charity, so providing people with epilepsy information while having fun and playing games seemed an obvious solution."

Games will include wellie-throwing, shot-putting bean bags, duck racing, swingball and volleyball, with medals due to be presented to the winners at the end by Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

"We are grateful to the Essex Legacy fund for their support with this event," added Marie. "So come along and get involved. This event is suitable for all the family or people just wanting epilepsy information."

"It's the perfect opportunity to bring a picnic, join the games and have some fun."

The event takes place from 11.30am-4pm between the café and bandstand in the Town Park. For more information call Marie on (01708) 479 536 or email medgar@epilepsy.org.uk.

School bursar jailed for 'sophisticated' cleaning scam

THE former bursar of an independent school who stole thousands from his employers has been jailed for two years.

Peter Bailey set up a bogus company and charged the school – Haileybury College at Hertford Heath – for cleaning work which had not been carried out.

The school paid out a total of £165,000, St Albans Crown Court was told.

On Friday Bailey (43), of Heathcote Gardens, Harlow, pleaded guilty to two charges of fraud by false representation.

The court heard the defendant began working at the boarding and day school in 2005 and remained there until 2010.

As the school's domestic bursar he was responsible for the cleaning of the establishment but over a period of three years he submitted false invoices which purported to show cleaning had been done when it hadn't.

The invoices amounted to £147,969 and false expenses he put in came to a further £17,668.

An audit uncovered the extent of Bailey's frauds. The court was told that by setting up an account to receive the money, there was a degree of sophistication about his crimes.

Bailey started to commit the frauds to supplement his income after he was forced to give up a part-time job as catering manager at Bishop's Stortford Rugby Club.

William Walsh, representing Bailey, said in mitigation: "He expresses through me his extreme regret and remorse."

The court was told Bailey was in the process of selling his home to raise money to pay back to the school and, as a result, £41,000 was available.

Passing sentence, Judge Stephen Gullick told him his crimes had meant he was pocketing between £900-£1,000 pounds every week tax-free, adding: "It was a significant breach of trust."

Bailey, who suffers from diabetes, was jailed for a total of two years. The judge also made a confiscation order so that in the next four months the £41,000 will be paid back to the school.

Boost for wildlife at nature reserve

A PROJECT breathing new life into a Harlow nature reserve is about to enter its second phase after councillors approved plans to create a wildlife haven.

Volunteers from local conservation group Harlow Wildlife Projects will soon start work to reduce soil levels at Harlow Marshes to encourage the growth of a 2,000 sq.m. reedbed habitat.

New footpaths and boardwalks have already been laid to improve public access to the area off Burnt Mill Lane.

Funding for the project, which is backed by the Essex Biodiversity Project and Harlow Council, has been provided by water firm Veolia and BAA Stansted.

Jon Clempner, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for environment, said: "We have been working closely with the volunteers to bring this project to life."

"This is about bringing residents and volunteers closer to wildlife by improving access and creating a better habitat for the wildlife."

Volunteers are organising a Marshes Fun Day on Friday, August 3 to celebrate the completion of the project's first phase. For more information, log on to the website at www.essexbiodiversity.org.uk.

Sacked – for parking in a disabled space

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsexnews.co.uk

A WORKMAN for council contractor Kier Harlow has been sacked after he was caught parking his truck in a disabled bay before going to buy his lunch.

The firm took swift action after two members of the public took a picture of the vehicle and posted it on the social networking site Twitter.

Richard Hanrahan (40), of Sheering Road, and his nephew Lewis Clark (19), of Long Ley, said they were "disgusted" after watching the employee park the truck across a disabled bay at the Staple Tye shopping precinct so he could visit a sandwich bar.

"I just thought it was totally unacceptable," said Mr Hanrahan. "The guy parked up without any thought to who he was depriving of that space and walked off to buy his lunch."

"My father is disabled so it really struck a nerve as I know how difficult it is to get a space at the best of times. I drive a van for work myself so appreciate they can be awkward to park but we all have to be considerate in this world."

Mr Clark added: "I know a lot of people do it but considering he was in a marked vehicle representing Kier and essentially Harlow Council, we just really thought an example needed to be made."

A spokeswoman for Kier

COSTLY MISTAKE: The photograph of the truck that was posted on Twitter

Harlow said: "We would like to apologise unreservedly for the incident involving one of our operatives parking in a disabled bay in Staple Tye."

"This is unacceptable and is not the standard of behaviour we expect from Kier staff. Therefore, the operative in question is no longer working on our behalf."

The sacked driver, Jay Messenger, who had only been working for the company for three months, subsequently contacted the Star. He said he was unaware he had parked in a disabled bay and apologised for causing any offence.

"It was a genuine mistake," he said. "I would never have parked there if I had realised it was a disabled space."

Mr Messenger added that he felt he had been unfairly treated by the company.

"I would have accepted a disciplinary but I feel that losing my job over this seems very extreme," he said.

"It was a first-time mistake and I am upset that I have not been given a chance to defend myself."

Shadow minister guest at 'pizza and politics' debate

YOUNG people are being invited to take part in a 'pizza and politics' night with Labour's shadow education secretary Stephen Twigg.

Labour's parliamentary candidate for Harlow, Suzy Stride, said the aim of the informal debate was to provide an opportunity for local people – particularly 16-35 year-olds – to have their say on current affairs.

"Although the evening has been organised by the Harlow Labour Party it is not aimed at party members," she said. "It is for anyone who has an interest in politics or wants to find out more about the current political field.

"We want to create a lively discussion essentially aimed at re-engaging local people in current political affairs."

The debate takes place at The Square in Fourth Avenue on Monday, starting at 7pm. Entry costs £5 or £3 concessions.

Tickets can be purchased on the night or in advance by calling Emma Toal on 07885 881 255 or emailing toal_er@hotmail.com.

An inspiration to all those taught by him

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

FORMER students, friends and colleagues have been lining up to pay tribute to Harlow Ballet School founder Leo Kersley, who died last week at the age of 92.

The well-respected dance tutor and choreographer first came to Harlow in 1959 and was instrumental in putting the town firmly on the UK's cultural map, setting up the area's first dance school and playing a key role in the development of The Playhouse.

Since the Star reported his death last week, tributes have flooded in from those whose lives he touched during his involvement with the local arts scene.

HONOUR: Mr Kersley with the Civic Award presented to him by Harlow Council in recognition of his commitment and contribution to the community

AT WORK: Mr Kersley teaches his final class back in 2009

Michael Branwell, an ex-pupil who took over the running of Harlow Ballet School following Mr Kersley's retirement in the 1990s, said his former tutor had made an "immeasurable" contribution to the town.

"Leo has been a part of my life for 51 years, ever since I started lessons at Harlow Ballet School in 1961, so his death has left a huge vacuum for me," he said.

"There was nothing like the HBS in Harlow back then. The Kersleys were the first to give working class youngsters the chance to learn ballet and what a tremendous success they made of it. "He was an inspiration to all those who had the fortune to be taught by him – even those who never went on to dance professionally – and I know he will be sorely missed by everyone who knew him."

Former pupil Kizzy Matiakis (née Pyle), now a soloist with the Royal Danish Ballet, said she owed her career to the Kersleys' tutelage.

"Leo was filled with a deep-rooted and sincere dedication to dance," she told the Star. "His ability to arm young people with the tools they need in the world of professional ballet is striking."

"My sisters, Alice and Josee, and I owe him and his late wife Janet [Sinclair] our careers. We cannot ever thank them enough and we hope they are now together, looking down at what they achieved in their lives with great pride."

Dance tutor Kelly Brice, who attended Mr Kersley's classes between the ages of 7-16, described him as "supportive and inspiring".

"Leo was an inspiration. He and Janet worked tirelessly to get funding for me and set up a trust fund so I could attend theatre school once I left secondary school."

"I still thank and love them dearly for that to this day, and I try to share everything I learnt from him in the dance classes that I now teach."

Another former pupil, Joanne Tillotson, described Mr Kersley as a "one-off".

"I'm honoured to have been taught by such a kind, talented and inspirational man," she added. "He gave me great confidence in my abilities and helped me follow my dreams."

I'll never forget him."

Harlow Council deputy leader Jean Clark said the town would forever be indebted to Mr Kersley for his contribution to setting up The Playhouse.

"I had a huge respect for Leo; he was an inspirational teacher who played a major role in popularising ballet," she said. "So many of his students were launched into professional careers, opening up many exciting opportunities for Harlow residents."

"He was actually instrumental in persuading the council to build The Playhouse, occupying a studio immediately when it opened in 1971. Since then, his support for the theatre remained undiminished, including serving as a member of the Playhouse Working Party."

Theresa Crumb, who runs the Ballet First school at St John's ARC in Old Harlow, said: "Leo was a force of nature, a ballet legend with a sharp steady mind. His wisdom was equalled by few, he was loved by so many."

"His gift for teaching young aspirational dancers was driven and embraced by his love of ballet. He was one of the last living icons in the foundation of British ballet."

Mr Kersley's daughter Alexandra, with whom he had been living in north London at the time of his death, described her beloved father as selfless and inspirational.

"It doesn't surprise me to hear that so many of his former students and colleagues have paid tribute to my father; he truly was a great man," she said.

"He helped transform the lives of so many young people in Harlow, youngsters who would never have been given those opportunities elsewhere."

"For him it was so much more than teaching children to dance. Even those who didn't go on to pursue a career on the stage were given the confidence and life skills to make a success of themselves, whatever they chose to do."

Mr Kersley's funeral will be held at Parndon Wood Crematorium on Monday at 1.45pm.

COUNCIL MATTERS

By Harlow Council leader Mark Wilkinson

THIS week was another landmark occasion for Harlow with the Olympic torch passing through the town.

Thousands lined the streets and the atmosphere was fantastic with everyone enjoying themselves and joining in the fun. To hear the crowds cheer on the torchbearers made me very proud of our town.

The Olympics for most people in our country is a once-in-a-lifetime event and in years to come I know residents will remember when the torch came to Harlow.

Now we look ahead to the Olympic and Paralympic Games themselves which will take place just down the road. It is with great pride that Harlow will be represented at London 2012 by residents who train in the town and by people who grew up in the town – keeping up our well-established association with sporting achievement.

With the drugs-testing for the Olympics also taking place in the town, Harlow has very real connections with sport and the Games. Residents with longer memories will remember that in 1966 the World Cup semi-finalists Portugal trained and stayed in Harlow.

THERE are a lot of talented people in Harlow.

Three weeks ago I attended, as part of the Queen's jubilee celebrations, an event at Leisurezone by the Makin' Steps performing arts group. It was a wonderful display of 60 years of song and dance performed by local people of all ages.

Later this year the chair of Harlow Council, Councillor Maggie Hulcoop, is organising an event which will once more showcase just how much talent we have in Harlow.

LAST month saw the national MJ Achievement Awards which are held to recognise the best councils in the country. Harlow was the only district authority to be shortlisted for the main award – Best Achieving Council.

This was an achievement in its own right and acknowledges that, despite the many challenges we face, all associated with the council continue to work hard to achieve the maximum for the town.

Difficult choices lie ahead but the council will continue to work hard for the town.

Water firm lifts hosepipe ban

WATER supplier Veolia has lifted the hosepipe ban covering Harlow. The restrictions, which have been in place since early April, have been ended following what the company described as "abnormally heavy rainfall" over the past two weeks.

Veolia, which is heavily dependent on ground water supplies, said these had now recovered sufficiently to enable it to lift the ban.

Torch lights up the town

IT was billed as a once-in-a-lifetime event. And for the thousands of people lining the streets of Harlow on Saturday, the day the Olympic Torch came to town will certainly live long in the memory.

Despite the early start, excited spectators flocked to the town centre to seek out the perfect vantage point, with many positioning themselves on the upper levels of car parks in Terminus Street and Haydens Road to get a bird's-eye view of the action.

Waiting patiently for the start of the relay, the crowds were kept entertained by dancers, stilt-walkers and musicians before the event finally burst into life at 8.20am as Romford teenager Jack Booth set off with the torch from outside Harlow Leisurezone.

Avenue, the 16-year-old then handed the beacon to Spanish torchbearer Nacho Hernandez Mazo who was cheered on by the flag-waving throng as he followed the route into East Gate. Sawbridgeworth resident Neil Humber was next to have his moment in the spotlight, carrying the torch through a packed Market Square before transferring the flame to Harlow drama teacher Jeanne Stacey.

Clearly relishing the honour of carrying the flame in her home town, she hopped, skipped and jumped her way through West Gate and onto Haydens Road, cheered and waved on by thousands as she led the convoy into Playhouse Square where she handed over to Tianbiao Ni from China for the final stretch of the journey through Harlow. Jeanne, of Churchgate Street, said carrying the flame had been a "magical" experience.

the making

"Being a torchbearer today was such an amazing experience and I will never forget it," she told the Star. "The Harlow crowds were fantastic and I am enormously proud to be part of this community."

"I was completely caught up in the atmosphere and thoroughly enjoyed every moment of my 300 metres with the flame. I count myself incredibly lucky to have played a part in this historic event. "And to have had my family, friends, and some of my past and present students there too just made the moment magical!"

It was all over in a little under 15 minutes, but for those who witnessed it – including Harlow Council chairman Maggie Hulcoop – it was simply unforgettable.

"There were people watching from car parks, out of their windows, on the grass verges – it seemed like people were everywhere and it was great to see," she said.

"The atmosphere on the relay route was electric and the reception the torchbearers received was magical. The whole day left me with a lump in my throat and as part of my year in office a day I will never forget it.

"This is unlikely ever to happen again in my lifetime and I'm so glad I witnessed history being made in Harlow."

The sun was shining and Harlow was the place to be. Brilliant!

ON Saturday we asked visitors to our website to send in their photographs of the Olympic torch relay as it passed through the town. We would like to thank everyone who submitted pictures – here are just a selection of the many we received. For a complete gallery of photographs, visit our website at www.harlowstar.co.uk.

The fun continues long after the flame has left town

EVEN after the flame was ushered back on to the bus and whisked off to Waltham Abbey for the next leg of its journey, the party was still in full swing in Harlow.

Thousands stayed on in the town centre to enjoy an action-packed day of live entertainment and giveaways.

Stages were set up in The Water Gardens, the Harvey Centre and Market Square as local bands and dance schools performed for the crowds, while hundreds joined a community torch procession through the town centre.

London 2012 mascot Wenlock made several appearances throughout the day, joining youngsters in the town centre for the 'Great McDonald's Mascotathon' and posing for photographs with members of the public.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who watched the relay from Market Square before joining the celebrations in the town centre, summed it all up as a "crazily fantastic day".

"There was such a great atmosphere it felt like a carnival," he told the Star. "Huge congratulations must go to the police, the emergency services, and especially the councillors and officers at Harlow Council, many of whom had been up from 2am to get everything ready."

Council leader Mark Wilkinson added: "What a fantastic day for Harlow. It was a once-in-a-lifetime event and I'm extremely proud that so many people came out to cheer on the torchbearers and mark this historic day."

"For 15 minutes Harlow was in the international spotlight and we did ourselves proud by showing the world that the Olympic spirit is alive in Harlow."

We must do more to keep town tidy

SIR, As Harlow Council's new portfolio holder for environment, I am writing in response to recent letters about the state of grassed areas of the town.

I agree the town is not looking as it should in terms of grassed areas, landscape and litter.

While it is true that the wettest June on record has exacerbated the situation, this is not the whole story. We have fallen short of expectations and we need to do better.

Last week Kier Harlow commenced extra grass cutting, strimming and weed spraying of verges, roundabouts and open spaces. This will continue during the summer months.

This is a temporary solution but it will allow us to look more fundamentally at how this is addressed in the future.

I have asked officers of the council and Kier Harlow to bring forward an improvement plan that was planned for October and I will be sitting down with them next week to go through the details of what can be done to make sure that the expectations of all of us are met.

As Star readers know, the reduced funding available to the council means that difficult decisions have to be taken about priorities. While this will undoubtedly constrain any additional resources that can be put into this area, I will be taking this issue very seriously to ensure all our partners step up to the mark and we all meet the commitment to keep Harlow clean, green and tidy.

Dog attack has left me feeling nervous

SIR, We have five dogs – two large Newfoundlands and three small dogs.

About two years ago when I was walking my Newfoundlands on a lead one was attacked by a Staffordshire bull terrier which was not on a lead.

It wouldn't let go of my dog's throat. After about five minutes we managed to separate them but when we called the police they said there was nothing they could do as my dog had not been seriously injured.

I was really shaken up and it is something I will never forget. As I was on my own at the time I stopped taking my dogs out for a year until I met my partner and now I have only just built up the courage to walk my dogs again.

Last Monday morning we were walking our two Newfoundlands in the Spruce Hill area of Harlow and were just approaching the common when a Staffie came flying around the corner and launched itself at my dog's neck. It wouldn't let go.

The lady owner came around the corner and eventually got her dog off mine. She apologised, saying her dog was "naughty" and that she should have had him on a lead but didn't think anyone else was around.

Once again my dog was not seriously hurt and did not retaliate but my concern is that if it had been an hour earlier my three smaller dogs – two of which are puppies – would have been injured or killed by this dog.

I can't express how angry I am at irresponsible dog owners. In my opinion all dogs should be kept on a lead unless on a big field where there are no other dogs in sight.

I am now very nervous about taking my dogs for a walk and this should not be so. I am hoping that others who

THE amazing variety of wildlife that can be seen in and around Harlow is represented by another stunning photograph take by one of our readers.

The picture was submitted by John Wilson, of The Hornbeams, Harlow, who writes: "It was taken from the hide that overlooks Marshgate Springs nature reserve. "For those not familiar with the location, Marshgate Springs is sandwiched between the Queensgate Centre to the east and the motorcycle training centre to the west and can be entered from Edinburgh Way or from the path that leads to the zig-zag bridge over the railway."

"The hide is in the park, about 200 yards to the east of the bridge on the River Stort side of the railway."

Why was there no area for disabled?

SIR, The Olympic torch relay was a great event save for one small but important thing: where were the viewing areas for the disabled in Market Square?

Would a raised area have really put the organisers out that much? If there were proper provisions then they weren't signposted or detailed on the map printed in the Star last week.

I think it's important for events like these to be enjoyed by all, not just the able-bodied among us.

Take the plunge and reduce pool charges

SIR, I am outraged at the cost of a swim at the Leisurezone in Harlow.

I am a pensioner and have a 20-month-old grandson. My husband and I like to take him swimming at least once a week.

My husband is 66 and, therefore, is entitled to a discount. I am 61 and have to pay the full price. Taking our grandson swimming costs us £8.75 and at that price we can only afford to take him once a week.

Each time we have been at the pool we have seen it is not really being used as much as it could be. I listened recently to a radio programme which stated that not enough children are learning to swim.

If prices for swims were reduced, we may in turn see pools being used more by the community and the reduction in the price of a swim may encourage more parents/grandparents to use the pool. This in turn would help our youngsters to learn swim which is such a very important skill to have.

We would love to take our grandson swimming more often but just cannot afford to. I am sure there would be a lot of grandparents/parents who would agree.

In praise of the NHS

SIR, Everyone is quick to complain about the NHS so it is only fair that good experiences are recorded too.

Last week I had reason to call the emergency services when I had severe back and chest pains. The paramedic arrived 10 minutes after the call and was extremely conscientious, doing every test possible.

Although the tests showed no sign of heart problems he insisted I be taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital for further checks as there is a history of heart problems in my family.

The ambulance crew were very kind, caring and friendly both to me and my wife. The hospital staff from doctors and nurses to the auxiliary who brought us sandwiches and drinks could not be faulted.

I was attended by two doctors and a consultant who could not have treated us better had we been seen privately. I was kept in overnight for further tests on EAU where staff were run off their feet when two agency nurses did not turn up. Still they stayed upbeat, cheerful and attentive.

I am very grateful to PAH and the NHS for the wonderful treatment I received. I couldn't have asked for more.

A new discount card could be just the ticket when it comes to encouraging residents to use the town's leisure facilities. The proposed card, which would be restricted to people living in Harlow residents, is recommended in the recent South East Economic Development Strategy report on the town.

Labour councillors have criticised what they have labelled a 'Tory charter for the poor', claiming it will affect around 8,000 Harlow people on housing benefits next year. One said Harlow Council would no longer be able to give additional help to the very poor, with the exception of war widows.

An 11-year-old boy was rushed to hospital on Monday evening after he fell down a lift shaft in the Harvey Centre car park. Police say the lad was playing with friends in the lift when they forced the doors open while it was moving and he fell out.

A gleeful Harlow Council was patting itself on the back this week after the successful return of Pop To The Park. Thousands of sun-drenched music fans descended on the town park on Saturday evening to listen to performances by soul singer Ruby Turner and other local bands.

It's tee time!

WOOD you believe it? Canons Brook Golf Club is celebrating its 50th birthday next year.

And with preparations for this milestone anniversary already in full swing, the club is appealing to golfers to fill in some holes about its history.

The club in Elizabeth Way, Harlow, will be holding its birthday celebration next June and is keen to track down old members who may have a story to tell or some memorabilia to share.

The club opened its nine-hole course designed by English golfing legend Henry Cotton – later to become Sir Henry – on May 18, 1963. According to Canons

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Brook director Alan Howick, Sir Henry's philosophy was to create a championship length course with very little rough.

"Though he wanted little rough on his course, he still wanted to incorporate many bunkers and large, undulating greens – a task he accomplished with style," said Mr Howick.

"He designed it in such a way that the aspiring golfer must exhibit a wide repertoire of shots if they are to master the course.

"It was his intention that regardless of standard, every golfer should be rewarded for thoughtful and skilful play rather than power alone."

The club, which takes its name from the waterway which meanders through various parts of the 112-acre site, officially opened the full 18-hole course three years later in 1966.

According to Mr Howick, the designer made a point of ensuring his memory would live on at the course by including his own signature piece.

"The twelfth is Sir Henry's signature hole and typifies all the holes on the course," he explained. "Seemingly simple, it is actually surrounded with problems and should be well thought out."

Mr Howick said he hoped as many former club members as possible will get in touch in touch to make the 50th anniversary celebrations particularly memorable.

"Although we don't plan to have celebrations until June next year, we are very keen to track down past members as soon as possible to hear their tales from days gone by," he said.

"We would be particularly interested in speaking to anyone with pictures, trophies or other mementoes that the club might be able to borrow for a celebratory display."

Court threat to travellers

TRAVELLERS who have moved on to private land near the Newhall housing development in Harlow have been told to move on or face court action.

A total of nine caravans rolled onto the field – owned by estate developers Newhall Projects – off Milestone Road shortly after 7pm on Monday night.

Concerned residents immediately reported the illegal camp to police who are now working with the developers and Harlow Council to move the group on.

Matthew Byatt, head of sales and marketing for the developers, told the Star on Tuesday: "We want to assure residents that we are working closely with Essex

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Police and the Essex Community Safety Team to get this issue resolved.

"If they refuse to move on then our next move will be to go through the civil courts."

Mr Byatt confirmed that developers were in the process of contacting all residents living on the multi-million pound development, adding that it was "frustrating" for all affected.

"Not only do such incidents cause great concern for our residents but they can also be very costly to us as the private landowners," he said.

"The bills for damage caused from breaking-in and using the site, plus the cost of legal proceedings can run into the thousands. We are hoping to get things back to normal as soon as possible."

Harlow Council deputy leader
Jean Clark, who is also portfolio holder for community and social inclusion, said: "The council is aware of the situation and has met with the landowners, the police and the travellers.

"The landowners have made their position clear to the travellers. As the encampment is on private land the council's powers are limited.

"The council has always had a positive relationship with the traveller community in Harlow and it will support all efforts to resolve this situation."

Driving 'test' for eager teenagers

YOUNGSTERS keen to experience the thrills of driving can get behind the wheel at a charity experience day in Harlow on Sunday.

EXL Driving School, in Bishop's Stort-ford, have offered the use of their vehicles for the event, which is being held in support of Passmores Academy's Lupus Five fundraising challenge to run, cycle and row 320 miles over five days.

Taking place in the grounds of the school in Traceys Road, it offers a chance for pupils in Years 7-11 from any school to have a go at driving for 15 minutes for a £5 fee.

All money raised from the day, which runs from 10am-4pm and also includes a barbecue, will go towards the £100,000 fundraising target. The money will be split between charities and hospitals helping to overcome the autoimmune condition.

For more information or to book a slot, email d.moore@passmoresacademy or turn up on the day.

Recycling food waste

HARLOW Council needs volunteers willing to take part in a food waste recycling trial.

Since 2009, houses have been able to recycle food waste weekly which has helped the town achieve a recycling rate of around 50 per cent of its household rubbish.

The council is now looking to run a trial of this service to blocks of flats across the town.

Anyone living in a flat can nominate their block by sending an email to lisa.pawlows-ki@harlow.gov.uk or write to her at The Civic Centre, The Water Gardens, Harlow, Essex CM20 1WG before the end of this month. Nominations should include a reason why you think your block should be considered for the trial.

Independent Persons

Unpaid and voluntary positions - people to help us maintain high standards of Councillor Conduct

Councils have a duty to promote and maintain high standards of conduct by their elected Councillors and others. Harlow Council takes this duty very seriously and seeks a small number of people from outside of the Council to help with assessing complaints against Councillors and people co-opted to serve on Council Committees etc

What sort of people are we looking for? It's important that the Independent Person has the profile and experience that the community would recognise and respect as bringing an independent and informed perspective to the complaint process. If you have experience in developing or interpreting Codes of Conduct, that would be an advantage as would knowledge of local government and the need for propriety in the public sector.

In order to ensure your voice is truly independent, you must not be related to or be a close friend of a Councillor of Harlow District Council.

If you would like more information or want to discuss these positions informally and confidentially, please call Amanda Julian, Legal Services Manager, on (01279) 446072 or Nigel Delbarre, HR Manager on (01279) 446022. If you would like to apply please either email or phone Amanda Julian, Legal Services Manager (address below) with your details.

Toy joy for Jessica

A SCHOOLGIRL has become the envy of all her friends after landing every child's dream job as a toy tester.

Five-year-old Jessica Rosbook is an official tester for leading toy brand TOMY and gets to spend hours playing with the latest gadgets and games before they go on sale.

Her job involves testing and rating the company's products, which get sent to her home in Kent throughout the year. She even gets to keep everything she tests - and has managed to build up a huge toy collection as a result!

Jessica's mum told reporters: "She absolutely loves trying out all of the new toys and she's certainly aware of how lucky she is.

"At first she just enjoyed getting new things to play with but now she realises what she's doing and that what she says could impact whether or not a toy actually makes it into the shops.

"She likes the fact that she gets to try things out before other children and that her opinion counts."

TOMY marketing manager Joanne Gray said Jessica's comments were vital to deciding which products eventually made it on to the shelves.

"We think it is vitally important to get consumer feedback on our products throughout the stages of development," she added. "It's all about hands on experience so we are really grateful for all of the insights we have got from Jessica and her mum."

Book deal is a dream come true for Simon

By CHRIS MOSS

AN aspiring author from Harlow has opened an exciting new chapter in his literary career with the publication of his debut novel.

Simon West-Bulford (43), of Rushton Grove, has harboured ambitions to become a successful novelist since the age of seven. He finally made his breakthrough earlier this month when Medallion Press published existentialist sci-fi epic The Soul Consortium.

Set in a distant future where mankind has conquered death but grown weary of immortality, the story follows one man's quest to discover what – if anything – lies beyond.

Far removed from the known universe with only an AI named Qod for company, Salem Ben relives the digitally reproduced lives of countless humans archived in The Soul Consortium as he searches for the meaning of life.

But when unexplained aberrations begin to appear among the digital souls, his quest takes a disturbing turn as he attempts to hunt down their source – and is confronted with a mysterious, malevolent force that threatens the very future of humanity.

Simon, who works in the clinical trials department at GlaxoSmithKline in Flex Meadow, said the book – which hit the shelves on July 1 – had been a nine-month labour of love.

"I'm pretty pleased with how it's all turned out," he said. "Before The Soul Consortium got accepted by Medallion, I'd had rejection letter after rejection letter for other novels, so obviously I'm thrilled to have finally been published. "As a writer you have to accept you're going to get knocked back from time to time, especially when you've never had a book published before, but if you're serious about it you just have to persevere."

Medallion were so impressed by The Soul Consortium that the publishing house has already agreed to put out Simon's next effort – quirky fantasy/horror The Beasts of Upton Puddle – next year.

"It's very encouraging to find a publisher willing to invest in your work," he said. "It gives you the confidence and desire to develop your writing further."

"I'm always trying out new ideas and flirting with different genres, so hopefully there are plenty of books left in me yet!"

The Soul Consortium is available now online and from selected bookstores, published by Medallion. For more information on Simon's work, log on to www.simonwb.com or www.medallionmediagroup.com.

Chance to dance away the summer blues

SUMMER may have been a washout so far but youngsters can still make the most of the school holidays by brushing up on their stage skills at a dance course run by a Harlow performing arts group.

Now in its fourth year, the Makin' Steps Summer Dance Course gives those taking part the opportunity to spend five days undergoing intensive training with two of the town's premier dance tutors –

Scott and Victoria Simpson. Both fully qualified with years of teaching experience, the husband and wife team will put students through their paces in a variety of dance disciplines including ballet, hip-hop, street dance, tap, modern and musical theatre. The week-long course will then culminate in a live performance for family and friends on Friday, August 17. Scott, who has worked on shows including The Brit

Awards and The Royal Variety Show alongside artists such as Robbie Williams, Boyzone and Westlife, told the Star this year's course would be bigger and better than ever.

"Our combined knowledge and experience will give the students the highest possible training and set this summer dance course apart from the rest," he added.

This will be our fourth year and it's a fun, safe place for kids to come during the

 certificate 15, 1h50m

THE gloves are off. And so, for that matter, are the the shirts, trousers and thongs in Steven Soderbergh's cautionary tale of ambition and greed set in a Tampa Bay male nude revue bar.

Loosely inspired by lead actor Channing Tatum's brief stint as a stripper, Magic Mike delivers on the promise of copious oiled, naked flesh, which should guarantee healthy attendance from female and gay audiences.

Adam (Alex Pettyfer) lives in Tampa Bay with his responsible sister Brooke (Cody Horn) and lands a temporary construction job alongside nice guy Mike (Tatum). But on his very first day Adam is sacked.

As he roams around town, Adam crosses paths again with Mike who introduces him to the local male nude revue bar, where delirious women thrust dollar bills at gym-toned Adonises.

It transpires that Mike is the club's star turn and earns big money alongside fellow dancers Ken (Matt Bomer), Richie (Joe Manganiello), Tarzan (Kevin Nash) and Tito (Adam Rodriguez) under the watchful eye of manager Dallas (Matthew McConaughey).

A mishap affords Adam a chance to perform on stage and under his new moniker of The Kid he becomes a firm favourite of the female clientele. But Adam soon finds that adulation comes at a price.

Apart from the good-looking cast and another solid performance from Tatum, Soderbergh's film lacks emotional depth and substance. And while the male actors seem to be having a blast, Reid Carolin's script occasionally errs towards the crass as it charts the descent of an inexperienced stripper into drug-fuelled oblivion.

Magic Mike boasts several frenetic dance sequences while Tatum anchors the film with his sensitive, believable portrayal of a dreamer who is ploughing all of his tips from the club into a fledgling custom furniture design business.

Screen chemistry with Horn never progresses beyond a simmer as an upbeat frothy first half gives way to a plodding, ponderous second enlivened by occasional directorial flourishes.

ICE AGE 4: CONTINENTAL DRIFT
 certificate U, 1h32m

SCRAT the sabre-toothed squirrel (voiced by Chris Wedge) sets off a tectonic chain reaction that threatens to destroy an entire continent in the latest chapter of the Ice Age series.

Manny the woolly mammoth (Ray Romano) clashes with teenage daughter Peaches (Keke Palmer) before he and sabre-toothed tiger Diego (Denis Leary), Sid the sloth (John Leguizamo) and Sid's grandmother (Wanda Sykes) are swept out to sea on an ice floe.

While Manny's soul mate Ellie (Queen Latifah) shepherds the land animals towards a bridge that is the only escape route from the rapidly collapsing island, Manny and his chums drift helplessly away and come under attack from sea-faring pirates led by prehistoric ape Captain Gutt (Peter Dinklage).

Romance blossoms between Diego and one of Gutt's salty sea-beasts - sabre-toothed tigress Shira (Jennifer Lopez) who must decide where her loyalties lie.

THE AMAZING SPIDER-MAN High school student Peter Parker (Andrew Garfield) is haunted by the disappearance of his parents (Campbell Scott, Embeth Davidtz). He lives with his uncle Ben (Martin Sheen) and aunt May (Sally Field) and contends with all the usual growing pains, including persistent bullying from jock classmate Flash Thompson (Chris Zylka) and a tender romance with fellow student Gwen Stacy (Emma Stone). But soon after he is bitten by a genetically modified arachnid that imbues him with superhuman powers he discovers evidence linking his parents' disappearance to his father's business partner, Dr Curt Connors (Rhys Ifans). Little does Peter realise that Connors also has a secret alter ego: reptilian menace The Lizard.

KATY PERRY: PART OF ME Behind-the-scenes documentary that traces Ms Perry's ascent from gospel singer Katy Hudson to the present day with countless awards cluttering up the mantelpiece. The film captures the impact of her divorce as she takes her California Dreams tour around the world, intercut with energetic concert footage recorded at the Staples Center in Los Angeles. Concert footage showcases her tremendous vocals but it's the raw footage which makes the biggest impact, Perry allowing the cameras to keep rolling when she's at her low ebb.

MEN IN BLACK 3 (2D) Boglodite assassin Boris The Animal (Jemaine Clement) escapes from a high security prison and plans to travel back in time to kill the man who put him behind bars - Agent K (Tommy Lee Jones). Having ascertained the past has been altered, Agent J (Will Smith) travels back to 1969 to save his best friend from annihilation.

>>Batman special

Tuesday only

BATMAN BEGINS / THE DARK KNIGHT With the release of the third film in the franchise - The Dark Knight Rises - there's a chance to catch Christopher Nolan's first two masterpiece superhero movies on one bill.

Batman Begins tells how multi-millionaire Bruce Wayne becomes the caped crusader after the loss of his parents. Vowing to avenge their deaths by fighting crime that plagues his home of Gotham City, he faces his greatest challenge when a figure from his past gains the power to destroy everything he has fought to protect.

The Dark Knight will always be remembered for Heath Ledger's portrayal of Joker, a homicidal mastermind who Batman must prevent from plunging Gotham into anarchy without any motivation beyond Joker's own twisted sense of fun. Aaron Eckhart plays District Attorney Harvey Dent, who pays a terrible price for his commitment to justice.

WIN

Family tickets to Ice Age 4 & goody bag of merchandise

TO celebrate the release of Ice Age 4: Continental Drift, Cineworld Harlow has teamed up with the Star to give you the chance to win some exclusive merchandise and tickets to see the film in this online competition.

Manny the woolly mammoth, Diego the sabretooth tiger and Sid the sloth are back and about to embark on another adventure after their continent is set adrift. Using an iceberg as a ship, they

This week we are giving you the chance to win one of three family tickets to see the film AND a goody bag containing some great Ice Age 4 merchandise including a T-shirt, water pistol, lunch box, stickers and cards.

To stand a chance of winning, all you have to do is answer this question: What is the name of the woolly mammoth in Ice Age 4: Continental Drift?

To enter, visit our website at www.harlowstar.co.uk and click on the Competitions link under the 'Newspaper' tab. Be sure to enter 'Star Ice Age 4' in the competition line or your entry will be discounted.

The Weakest Link?

Many property transactions form part of a chain of related sales. Of course a chain is only as strong as its weakest link and, as a national statistic; unfortunately one in every three chains will fall apart, often at the eleventh hour. This happens for a variety of reasons from one party's mortgage glitch to an unpleasant surprise in another's survey or title enquiries.

However, the most common factors affecting a chain breaking down is simply that the opportunity for one party or another to pull out on a whim exists, and often extends to several weeks under the current property buying system in the UK.

Buyer remorse is a recognised syndrome, where buyers worry that they might not have made the right decision and their commitment wavers. Without any form of pre-contract commitment, the problem is likely to be with us for some time.

Well-trained estate agents are able to spot the signs of buyer remorse early on and minimise its effects. More importantly, we go to great lengths to ensure that a chain not only remains intact, often by our involvement several links away, but also that the time between finding a buyer and exchange of contracts is reduced to the absolute minimum.

Communication is the key, and we urge all our buyers and sellers to be as open with us as they can so that we can use our skills to facilitate a sale that is as swift, productive and hassle-free as possible.

Finding a buyer for your property is often the easy part, but selecting an estate agent who will ensure the sale actually goes through is just as critical.

It Must Be All That Rain?

Is it the weather, or the time of year but for some strange (that word is deliberate) reason we seem to be attracting some very odd people calling into our offices recently.

It seems an estate agency shop, as some call it, is a natural attraction to pass the time of day a way for some who have nothing else important to do.

Take last Monday, two individually dressed ladies (best way to describe them) wandered in off the street asking if we sell houses? They had been looking into our window for the best part of 15 minutes.

They proceeded to describe the sort of house they wanted then, this a first for me, asked for a piece of paper and pencil then proceeded to draw a picture of the style of house they wanted! If I hadn't seen them do this with my own eyes I would have thought this was a scene from Monty Python, and the sketch, my six year old grandson could have done a better job! And when these two ladies left, one whispered to the other what a nice young man, but a bit strange!

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

The mother of all Olympic Torch relays!

Star Sports Editor ALAN SCOTT followed the flame on Saturday

MUM was definitely the word on Saturday as I ventured out with great anticipation and excitement to watch history in the making as the Olympic Torch hit our streets.

I was looking out for Pamela Walker, the mother of Harlow-born GB athlete and Olympic Torch bearer Sam Watts, who has regaled me over the last few years with tales of her son's athletic prowess and exploits.

My mum's the same, constantly telling people proudly 'yes my son's the Sports Editor for the Star' as I turn red - so I know how Sam feels.

But hey, they're mums. That's their job.

I could not have failed to spot Pam as she turned up in a Geri Halliwell-style Union Jack dress.

Earlier, as I had made my way from my Harlow home to Bishop's Stortford for Sam's part of the relay, I was impressed by the hordes of people lining the streets.

The atmosphere was electric.

Considering we are still a fair way from London it's nice to know how important this is, reflected in the sheer volume of people of all ages ready to watch the procession.

This Olympics might have cost us taxpayers a fair few bob but clearly it has been worth it.

The Watts' clan, many of them driving up from Harlow, was growing by the minute. Some members of Sam's family had driven hours to watch the 20-year-old take his place in the limelight.

But then the rain started and the sun disappeared.

I found a tree to shelter under with my nine-year-old son Josh, having spent most of the morning convincing him to come as this was a 'once in a lifetime experience and worth ditching the PlayStation3 for' - for a couple of hours at least!

Then just before Sam arrived at quarter to 12, suddenly the clouds parted and the sun finally came out.

We were then entertained by police officers on motorcycles giving 'high fives' to the waiting crowds. You don't see that every day.

Meanwhile, Sam's mum proudly told one police woman: 'I'm the Mum.'

And suddenly Sam was there in his London

Olympic 2012 Torch tracksuit with his own Torch (which incidentally he got to keep).

Sam was engulfed by spectators eager to get their photo taken with him. He just kept smiling, patience personified.

Then after about 10 minutes, Sam was getting his Torch lit by the previous bearer and then he was away, eagerly pursued by myself and quite a few of his relatives - including his mum in 'that dress'.

Luckily he maintained a slow speed; we would never have kept up with him had he ran at his usual 300m pace.

Then, just as my 'dodgy left knee' was screaming at me 'you're 40 now - please stop' Sam was passing the 'baton' to Mike Jackson, the chairman of Harlow charity, the President's Sporting Trust.

It was a great event to witness. I think even my Josh was quite pleased he quit FIFA 12 to 'Follow the Flame'.

Now for the Games. That's the Olympics - not the PlayStation!

Students shine at district champs

ELEVEN schools took part in the West Essex District Schools Athletics Championships at Passmores Academy.

Students from five secondaries in Harlow competed at Melbourne Park, Chelmsford last Friday.

In the Year 7 boys, a fine run came from William Jansen (Passmores), who was second in the 1,500 metres in a personal best (PB) time of 5 minutes and 13 seconds, just four seconds behind the winner from Chigwell's West Hatch School.

In the Year 8 girls event, Rosie Poole (Stewards) won the 1,500m in 5:14, some 46 seconds clear of Elise Walker (St John's, Epping), the Harlow AC member who was second in a PB of 6:00.

In the Year 8 girls 800m, Jodi Ratcliffe (Mark Hall) edged Amy Edwards (Passmores) in 2:33 in a thrilling race. Amy set a PB of 2:34.

In the Year 8 boys 1,500m, Essex athlete Canaan Solomon (Mark Hall) secured an emphatic victory in 4:34.

In the Year 9 girls 1,500m, Essex athlete Alicia McDardell (Mark Hall) stormed home in 5:17, 32 seconds ahead of her rivals.

Alicia's training partner Megan Price (St Mark's) was a clear winner in the Year 9 800m, clocking 2:46. In third was Sky

Mulvey (Burnt Mill) in 2:58.

Naomi Harryman (St Mark's) won the Year 9 100m in a PB of 12.70s and the high jump by leaping 1.45m.

In the Year 9 boys 1,500m, Rian McKnight (Burnt Mill) convincingly won in 4:56.

In the Year 10/11 girls javelin, Eleanor Moss (Passmores) sealed victory with a throw of 25.48m.

Other winners were: Year 9 100m girls Maria Agaye (St Mark's) 13.38s; Year 9 boys discus E. Ninnis (St Mark's) 30.40m; Year 9 boys high jump I. Randall (Passmores) 1.50m.

West Hatch won the event. Passmores were third.

Chiassaro's GB snub

ATHLETE Richard Chiassaro was handed a massive snub by the British Paralympic Association when he missed out on a place in the Great Britain team at the London Games.

The 30-year-old, from Harlow, was expected to seal a spot after excelling in the BT Paralympic World Cup in May when he won the T54 wheelchair 100m in 15.04 seconds.

Harlow's other wheelchair star, Anne Wafula Strike, has also missed out on a place at the Paralympic Games, which start in September.

But the real surprise is former Mark Hall School student Chiassaro's snub.

The British Paralympic Association have not even entered an athlete for the T54 100m, Chiassaro's specialist event.

He had also hoped to compete in the 200m and 400m, and had been training hard towards his goal over the last few years.

He has never competed in the Paralympics before.

Chiassaro was unavailable for comment, but his friend Jon Kemmish told the Star: "He had done everything that was asked of him. He's No.1 in the country for 100m and 200m and 5th in the world. It does not make any sense."

He had also competed in the Olympic Stadium in the London Disability Athletics Challenge.

It is the third Games snub in a fortnight for Harlow athletes.

Judo aces Peter Cousins and Faith Pitman missed out on places at the Olympics.

Unbeaten ton for ace Cloete

HARLOW Town's Shepherd Neame Essex League division three match against Old Brentwoods was cancelled due to the wet weather.

However, Harlow Town's third team got their game on and scored 190-2 to beat Southend-on-Sea (189) by eight wickets in the 3rd XI division three.

Johan Cloete hit an unbeaten 113 off 134 balls.

He was supported by Matt Parsons (20) as the pair put on an unbeaten stand of 128.

Earlier, Town's Stuart Alderson took 4-54.

In the 4th XI division two, Harlow (223-6 dec) dismissed Hornchurch V by a paltry 49 to win by 174 runs.

James Coldwell struck a sublime 135, including 20 fours and three sixes.

Charlie Allen (4-11) and Dharmendra Rana (3-16) took most wickets for Harlow.

Harlow's third team won by five wickets against Hornchurch IV.

Chasing 146 (Dave Whellams 3-42), Harlow posted 150-5 with Faisal Javed (43) top scoring.

In the Herts & Essex League, Potter Street II (168) beat Farnham II (132) by 36 runs.

Other games were rained off.

A place in history

can't wait for that pressure. I'm going to use it and embrace it."

Osagie, who received words of encouragement from GB Olympic legend Steve Ovett recently, is still working hard to improve his performance – and he will need to as he will face World Record holder David Rudisha.

"The last 12 months I have had a lot of belief in myself. I got a lot of confidence from Istanbul and getting a medal [at the World Indoor Championships].

"That was my first international medal. Then the back-to-back Olympic trials – I have only run two and won both of them, so my confidence is at an all-time high," he beamed.

Osagie is not getting too carried away as the Games approach. "As an athlete you almost play things down, but when I look back at my career I want to look at that and say 'that was amazing, this was amazing'."

For now though he is focused on Crystal Palace. "I have to keep running well in those races. I have got to get my tactics right and get that change of pace to get through the rounds, but I am in a good position to start [the Olympics]."

Chapman's Brown hail!

Midfielder Dave Cowley has been taking part in the club's pre-season warm-up sessions at Passmore Academy and Chapman, right, remains hopeful that he will play an integral part next season.

The early draws for the FA Cup with Budweiser and FA Carlsberg Trophy have been made.

In the FA Cup with Budweiser, Harlow are at home to either Ipswich

Wanderers or Hadleigh United in the preliminary round due to be played on Saturday August 25.

If successful, the Hawks will be away to either Debenham LC

Whitton United or Aveley in the first round qualifying round on Saturday September 8.

In the FA Carlsberg Trophy preliminary round, due to be played on Saturday September 15, Harlow have been given a tough draw away to Essex neighbours Brentwood Town.

If successful, Harlow visit Walton & Hersham or Maldon & Tiptree United in the first qualifying round on Saturday September 29.

Olympic Torch bearer targets Brazil 2016

BRAZIL 2016 is firmly in the sight of athlete Sam Watts – and he expects to be following in the footsteps of Great Britain legend Roger Black by competing in the Olympic Games 400m.

The 20-year-old Harlow-born athlete – who was part of the Olympic Torch relay in Bishop's Stortford on Saturday – has watched as his close friend Adam Gemili has earned a call-up to Team GB for this summer's London showpiece.

But rather than be envious or bitter, Watts knows his time will come at the Olympics in four years' time.

"Brazil in 2016 was always the plan the whole time," he said.

Watts has been known as a 100m and 200m sprinter, but will now step up to 400m and is set to shine at this distance.

"I definitely see myself as a 400m runner," he said.

Watts is young enough to contest for a medal in Brazil in 2016, as well as at the Olympics in 2020 and 2024.

The former Leventhorpe School student will carry out extensive training this winter and plans to run the 400m competitively in 2013.

His 2012 season was marred by an ankle injury which slowed his progress.

Former Harlow Athletic Club member Watts, who exploded onto the athletics scene by reaching the 200m final at the 2009 IAAF World Junior Championships in Italy, explained:

"For me it was not about doing the 400m this season as I did not have the fitness.

"I have just started doing the 4x400m relay. My times have been fast even though I have not been doing it competitively. I have got much more improvement to make."

Watts, a member of the renowned Woodford Green with Essex Ladies Athletic Club, has been coached for several years by former GB Olympics and Commonwealth Games 400m relay runner Gladys Bird.

The fact that she has competed in this event and can pass on her own wisdom and experience from previous top events is a huge plus for the talented youngster.

He said: "My coach competed at the Olympics. She was in the 400m hurdles and the 400m relay. She is an Olympics expert."

"My coach says when I get fitter I can run a lot faster. I am running 46 seconds.

"I'm doing that all the time.

Low 46 is all it takes, but I need to find a 45 [seconds]."

The world record is held by American Michael Johnson, who ran 43.18s in 1999.

From a competitive perspective, the year 2012 has been a quiet one for Watts, after the injury he sustained in the winter.

His highlight was taking silver in the 200m at the England Athletics U-23 Championships in June and he is set to finish the year on a high.

However, in previous years he has competed at the IAAF World Junior Championships in Canada and Italy, plus the European Junior Championships.

Having reached the age of 20 he was no longer able to compete at these events. But Watts, who turns 21 on Valentine's Day, hopes to compete in the Commonwealth Games in Glasgow in 2014 as he begins his Olympic Games countdown for 2016.

Duo hit Thunder to go down a storm

HARLOW lifted the gloom from the rain as tail-enders Sukit Bastola and Conor Ramsay secured a stunning two-wicket home victory against division one title-chasing Hadleigh & Thundersley.

The heavy rain delayed the match by 90 minutes, reducing it to 35 overs for the team batting first on Saturday.

Harlow skipper Luke Heskett won the toss and inserted the visitors.

Hadleigh's dangerous opening pair of Joe Robbins and Tom Phillipe put on 34 for the first wicket, before the former was caught at slip by Andy McGarry off Ahmed Khawaja for 16.

The returning Luke Monger bowled well to take two wickets, including dangerman Phillipe, clean bowled for 59.

Sam Rowe (15) and Adam Fleming (16) led the visitors' recovery, taking the score up to 131-4 with eight overs remaining.

However, Heskett introduced 15-year-old George Kenny into the attack and he struck immediately with his seamers, removing both Rowe and Fleming in his very first over.

He then clean bowled Adam Solliuex to end with three wickets for 19 runs.

Khawaja took 3-50 in 14 overs as Hadleigh posted 164-9.

In reply, Harlow lost Monger (10) and Heskett (4) to find themselves 24-2.

Rehman Ahmed (28) and Khawaja (26) rebuilt the innings, taking Harlow to 71 before Ahmed was superbly caught off the bowling of Aussie Brent McMinn.

Usman Jan (23), McGarry (12) and Kenny (16) all made good contributions to take Harlow to 144-8, but with Bastola and Ramsay at the crease the game was in the balance.

However, the pair held their nerve and batted well.

Bastola (15 not out) hit the winning runs with three balls to spare to spark jubilant celebrations. Ramsay was 11 not out.

Heskett said: "To beat [the team] second in the league was a great achievement. Young George Kenny bowled superbly and again showed great promise. Khawaja's spell was of his usual high standards. Rehman looked very good for his 28 and Bastola and Ramsay led us home brilliantly."

A place in history

Olympics-bound Osagie wants to follow in footsteps of Coe and Ovett

GREAT Britain athlete Andrew Osagie hopes he can take his place in history when he competes at the London Olympics, which are now less than a fortnight away.

The Harlow 800m runner will start his bid for glory in London when the first heat takes place at Stratford on August 6 and is brimming with confidence.

He said: "We have got a lot of history in the middle distance in Great Britain with the likes of Steve Cram, Seb Coe and Steve Ovett. Hopefully I can be on the brink of another piece of athletics' history and in 20 or 30 years when they look back I will be really happy to be where I am."

The 24-year-old, a Harlow Athletic Club member, will compete alongside the world's best in the Aviva London Grand Prix at Crystal Palace on Saturday, part of the prestigious Samsung Diamond League programme.

He will also compete in the South of France before the Games begins.

However, he knows how important it is that he performs when it really matters.

"It doesn't matter how much I've got the home support, on the 6th of August I need to perform, 7th of August I need to perform, and hopefully 9th of August I need to perform.

"At the moment, I'm just doing all the training I can, keeping my nutrition up to date, so I can be in the best shape when it comes to those races," he said.

Having secured a bronze medal at the World Indoor Championships in Turkey earlier this year, Osagie knows he carries the hope of a nation with him at the Olympics.

"It doesn't get any bigger. You can go to big stadiums and have big crowds, but this is going to be a home crowd - literally 25 minutes from my house, where I've lived most of my life.

"The pressure is going to be enormous but I

It's Brown hail as Hawks boss toasts loyal skipper

THERE has been good news and bad news for Harlow Town FC this week.

While winger Luke Marshall has become the third big name departure from the Ryman division one north club in recent weeks, Hawks boss Danny Chapman has received a huge boost with the news that skipper Danny Brown has committed his future to Barrows Farm.

The 32-year-old former Leyton Orient and Barnet left-back, pictured right, joined the club in October 2010 initially on loan from Eastbourne Borough, then in the Conference Premier.

Brown has been a key player over the last two seasons.

Chapman said: "We had a sit down and told him which direction the club were going in. He likes what we are doing and wants to be part of it.

"He had numerous offers from clubs offering more money than what we can pay, but he wants to stay and it's fantastic news for us."

Chapman was full of praise for Brown and had considered offering him the assistant manager's role following the departure of Christian Wheeler. But Brown wants to concentrate on playing. "The younger players look up to him. It's his attitude. He will do everything that needs to be done," Chapman said.

The Hawks boss says he's in no hurry to replace Wheeler, but Steve Kirby - the father of Ryan Kirby - will stay at the club to help Chapman during pre-season.

Meanwhile, Marshall has moved to Grays Athletic, following centre-half Kirby who quit Hawks nearly a fortnight ago.

The talented young winger joined Harlow from neighbours Ware in the 2010-11 season.

Chapman said: "I was disappointed. That's his choice to leave the football club. I wanted him to stay and he knows I wanted him to stay. But he has decided to move on and good luck to him."
